The first day of the rehearsals of the Ms Lanka 2007 was a heavy day for the organisers; choreographing, training the contestants on the catwalk and taking measurements for their alluring outfits and so on.

The rehearsals were held at the Vocational Academy of Technique International School of Hair Design and Beauty Therapy, Panadura Branch. And no doubt all what happened there has marked a striking memory to all the contestants as a lot of efforts has been taken to assist to add more glamour on them to face with determination at the big day event, the finals in December.

The official choreographer, Pradeep Bremly assisted by Poornima made much effort to train the contestants on the catwalk, while official designers Melani Jayaweera and Natali Whitall were kept busy taking measurements. The hair and make-up team led by Geetha Kanakarathne and Nirmala Dissanayake ably assisted by the students of Technique International, Janath Gunewardene, Anoma Fernandopulle, Chithrika Salgado, Enoke Perera, Maheshi Withanage and Ranmali Fernando checked out the suitability of hair styles and make-up for each mini title.

Vipula Amerasinghe the official photographer of the Sunday Observer, the official media sponsor, was busy updating the photographs for the Most Popular Contestant - Ms. Sunday Observer as voted by readers.

Mrs. Gwendoline Kuhatheva organiser of Ms. Lanka 2007, interviewed the contestants explained the rules and regulations of the contest and outlined the programme. Mrs. Kuhatheva also advised the contestants that the funds raised by this event were to be presented to the Lady Ridgeway Hospital for the purchase of much needed ophthalmic equipment.

The official florist is Sterling Flowers and the official computer services is by Soft Logic.

The Mini titles, Body Beautiful, Crowing Glory and the Palm Beach Queen will be chosen on 9th December, 2007 and the final Ms. Lanka 2007 will be held at the Palm Beach Hotel, Mt. Lavinia - the official Hotel.
