'Ms. Lanka 2007' - Beauty for a Cause

Beauty Therapy & Hair Dressing is a caring profession. We demonstrate this through treatments and also listen to our clients problems and in some instances offer advice, consolation or just lend an ear. As professionals we carry with us the added burden of being a "therapist" in the actual sense to our clients. We also pioneer events and activities related to the industry and adopt charities to which we donate the proceeds. This is built in to the 'feel good' factor and enhances the value of the trade.

For those of us who are privileged to have stable homes and good families, this world of need, depression, hurt and unhappiness are probably unimaginable. It is something you read about in the newspaper or hear from friends and sometimes you wonder what you could do to support such a needy cause. The answer is quite simple. The next time you find someone trying to sell you a ticket for a show that is in aid of a charity - buy it. This can be your contribution that makes a difference to all those people who are less fortunate than you. You also receive an evening of entertainment in return, so the pleasure is double edged and very rewarding. Caring is a mandatory requirement of life. We care about our loved ones in a way that is natural and instinctive. We work towards bettering ourselves, improving our standard of living and achieving more for every blessing that we receive. We should learn to give a blessing to a cause. As the needy have no one to care for them, that is why they are in need.
