

Dress your way

Nayani Epitawela

We often go to textiles and buy what is available not what fits on us. Not only you and me, almost everyone is used to that system of buying what is available. In other words dressing the way what others need, not the way what we need or what is suitable for us.

Nayani Epitawela is an up and coming fashion designer who designs the way what you want to dress. She will design unique creations on your request so as to appear unique. It is good news for those who don't like to wear what is commonly available at every dress point. Why not try to appear unique? You can see a few of her creations on this page. How attractive and beautiful they are?
-Panchamee

