In aid of elders' home for the blind - Ambalantota

"We have just four weeks more for the final of Ms. Lanka 2008", says Gwendoline Kuhatheva, organizer of Ms. Lanka 2008. Many people ask if we have good sponsors, since finding sponsors and funds is quite a task, and whether it is a wise decision to hold the Beauty Pageant this year.

"I agree funds and sponsors are hard to find. But Ms. Lanka 'Beauty for a Cause' is the outreach programme of Technique International, the School of Hairdressing and Beauty Therapy and we have held the event for the last 13 years, and each year we have supported projects to uplift the lives and circumstances of those in need of our help" goes on Gwendoline.

Ms. Lanka 2008 has a team of many willing friends, who year after year support our event. "Special mention must be made of Upali Jayaratne - Managing Director, Sterling Flowers and Hemantha Gunawardane - Director Softlogic. All our floral requirements are looked after by Sterling Flowers and Computer facilities are by Softlogic and official photographer Kasun Amerasinghe", she adds. Max TV & Radio has given us valuable support and Continental Hotel provides the venue and Sunday Observer gives enthusiasm to the contestants and creates a healthy competitiveness each week voting for the most popular contestant. The official designer of Ms. Lanka is Jaadullah Ismail of Maldives.

The Directors of Technique International supports the event, and the 'Happy Band' of voluntary committee, namely Mrs. M. Jabeer- Managing Director of Asian Fabrics, Lucille Dahanyake - Chairperson Hermes International, Ramya Weerakoon - Chairperson of Ramya Holdings, Kanthi Basnayake, Srina Ranasinghe, Claudette de Silva, Romani Thambiah, Malkanthi Perera and Fatimah Mufeeda rally round to make the event successful.

The students of Technique International, without whom there will be no event are Mary Peiris, Bala Vithya, Komathy Vasuthi, Richa Bharwaj, Anoma Fernando, Cathinka Dimitri, Ruwanthi Gunasekera, Charren Ingulban-dara, Lakshani Salgadoe, Eresha Mallawarachchi, Padmie Kantha, Hema Malani, Nadesha Gayani, Dhammika Gunawardane and Sharmila Sarathchandra. Gwendoline also made special mention of Ms. Geetha Kanakaratne, who has been in charge of hair styles for the last 13 years and continues for the 14th year and the livewire, who coordinates all events, is Nirmala Dissanayake, organizing the practice sessions each week make-up trials and dressing for each event and also instructing the team from Technique International and the training schedules for the contestants. The students (team) are those who are qualified in the NVQ levels 3 & 4, Hairstylist & Beautician, City & Guilds Diploma & Advanced Diploma in Hairdressing & Beauty Therapy and the World Federation of Hairdressing & Beauty Schools (UK) in Hairdressing & Make-up artists' qualification.

Gwendoline Kuhatheva is confident that with all our efforts together we will have a great event. So keep reading the Sunday Observer each week for the updates of events and watch Max TV to select the Max Queen.
