World Children's Day celebrated at British Council

The British Council ensures the welfare and safety of children and recognises that they have a duty to care for children they engage with. The British Council does all it can to protect children from abuse, both from within and outside the organisation, and takes appropriate action if such abuse occurs. Complimentary memberships were offered to senior library members and to young learners for recognising their relationship with the British Council during the past years.

To add to the celebrations, two movie trailers were also shown - 'Philomena', a true story of a woman's search for her lost son, and 'Paddington', the popular children's movie.

Here Keith Davies, Country Director, British Council with the participants.

Students of Methodist College, Panadura organised a perahera to commemorate International Children's Day recently. Here students parade along Panadura town. Teachers and parents also participated.
