

Kumana Bird sanctuary

The Kumana bird sanctuary is back in nature's bosom with the elimination of the scourge of terrorism by the country's valiant Security Forces. The resurgent lush greenery, blooming trees and birds and animals have heralded a new lease of life! It was during a heavy downpour that I visited Kumana in the the off season. Here are some birds captured by my camera. The Wildlife Department invites you to enjoy the beauty and solitude of the birds' paradise with no damage to the environment.

TEXT AND PIX BY MAHINDA
VITHANACHCHI

